

Fault report for a technician

Give a suitable service provider a usable symptom history, exact equipment identity, and the observations already made. Keep diagnosis and repair verification separate from the owner's report.

Protect people and contact emergency help first when appropriate. Make only safe, owner-permitted observations.

Record	Your information
Location / full address or coordinates / safe access directions
Owner or trip contact / phone / availability
RV and component make/model / identification and serial-record location
Exact symptom in your words / what happened immediately before it
Last normal operation / first occurrence / repeats
Date/time / mileage or operating hours / weather / power or fuel mode

Fault report for a technician — continued

Record	Your information
Warning/code exactly as displayed / photograph or video file location
What still works / equipment or load recently changed
Manual-approved owner checks made / source page / result

Provider findings and follow-up

Record	Your information
Current safe state / unresolved concern / provider advice on movement or recovery
Provider name/contact / agreed diagnostic or repair scope
Estimate / spending authorization limit / approval process / work-order reference
Provider's findings or diagnosis - record who supplied this information
Repair or adjustment completed / parts or materials / invoice reference
How normal function was verified / by whom / date / remaining limitation
Next action / responsible person / due date / OPEN or CLOSED / evidence

Do not conduct hazardous tests to fill a field. Record the provider's movement or recovery advice and unresolved limitations.
